PIONEER RESIDENT PASSES AWAY HERE DURING NIGHT

Miss Clara Shelley Comes To End of Long and Kindly Life
While Asleep in Bed; Was Prominent in History
Of Community and Church

Friends of Miss Clara Shelley, a well-known character in Redwood City in early days, and was for many years secretary of Bay View Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Miss Shelley, as a girl, attended the old school which stood near Webster street. Miss Shelley had been in poor health for the past few weeks and as she lived alone, and had not been seen by her friends on Tuesday they became alarmed.

Two of her friends, Mrs. E. L. Pipkin and Miss Sally Nelson called at her home yesterday, and finding the shades drawn and the doors locked, called neighbors and the police, and Officer Thorpe entered the house through a window. Miss Shelley was dead on her bed when they entered.

Dr. Dykes was summoned and he stated that she had died during the night. The cause of her death was said to be due to a heart attack. Arrangements have not yet been made for the funeral. The body is at the parlors of the James Crowe Undertaking Co.

Miss Shelley was born in 1849 in New York, but came to Redwood City as a young girl with her father. Her father was one of the early carpenters of this city and built many of the first houses in the village. One he built for himself on Arguello street, near Brewster, and here the family made its home for many years. John Shelley, the father, later engaged in the undertaking business, in addition to his carpenter work, and was the first to engage in that business here. He was

The funds raised will be devoted to the services of a trained director, Miss Ruth Jayne, the maintenance of central headquarters at the high school and training of leaders for both Scout and Brownie troop leaders. There were 100 registered Girl Scouts here in 1927 and now there are about 300 and more waiting to join troops as soon as leaders can be secured. There are ten active troops at present.

Woodside drive is under the captaincy of Mrs. J. D. Gish; Las Lomas in under Mrs. Werthman; Menlo Park and Atherton under Mrs. Murray Zoblér.

Funeral services were held yesterday for Eastland Britton, master of Redwood City lodge of Masons, and general manager of the Bear Gulch Water Company of Menlo Park and Woodside. The services were conducted by the Masonic lodge and were held at the parlors of Laying & Timney. The funeral was one of the largest ever held by the lodge and the parlors were filled to overflowing with sorrowing friends of the departed.

The Masonic funeral ritual was conducted by Walter Hilton and David Stott as master and senior warden, respectively. Following the service a few close friends and relatives attended a short service in the Cypress Lawn crematorium. The funeral was attended by many prominent Masons from all sections of the state and many of the men connected with the University of California, which controls the water company.

Britton was well-known and well liked, and his untimely death last Tuesday was a blow to his many friends.

REDWOOD MAN TALKS TO BROTHER IN ERIN

One of the biggest boosters in Redwood City for the efficiency of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company service is James P. Hearne, Broadway dry goods merchant and president of the Redwood City Retailers Association.

Mr. Hearne found it necessary late last Tuesday to get in communication with his brother, Rev. Maurice Hearne, who is pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in the Province of Munster, in Ireland, on some very important business. Munster is 100 miles distant from Dublin, and L. C. Brown, local manager of the Pacific Telephone Co., with whom Mr. Hearne took the matter up, was not certain if there was telephone connection with the province. He immediately got in touch with the New York telephone office and put in the call.

Being night there at the time, there was some delay in getting the connection at the other end, but shortly after midnight Mr. Hearne was informed at his home that his brother was ready to talk to him. Unfortunately storm conditions on the sea between England and Ireland were so bad that the two brothers were unable to carry on a satisfactory conversation, and Rev. Hearne in Munster suggested that his brother here try to get in communication with another brother, John Hearne, who is legal adviser to the Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Irish Free State and who at the time was attending the Imperial Conference in England. The change in call was put through by the telephone company, the brother was located at his hotel in London and in a short time was talking over the wire to Mr. Hearne here.

Women's Clubs Aiding Flower Festival Plan

Enteries Closed For Junior
Floral Parade In San Mateo

Under the leadership of Mrs. William Hayes, the women's clubs of San Mateo county are marshaling their talents to assure the success of the San Mateo County Fall Flower Festival to be held at the Junior College Gymnasium, 25th avenue, San Mateo, October 24, 25 and 26. Clubs whose members are assisting Mrs. Hayes are San Mateo Women's Club, American Legion Auxiliary, Burlingame, Burlingame Woman's Club, Peninsula League of Women Voters, Burlingame Professional and Business Woman's Club and Redwood City Woman's Club.

Plans for the arrangement of exhibits within the school gymnasium are now practically complete. Mrs. Hayes and her helpers are taking an active part in this phase of the festival, and announce that there will be presented many unique effects in grouping, arrangement and color combinations. Chrysanthemums will be the featured blooms of the show, since San Mateo county now ranks as the leading producer in the country of these fall blooms. Entry lists for the Junior Floral Parade closed October 12, and final returns show there will be several floats in the line of March, and more than 1000 young people. The parade will be held Friday afternoon, October 24. School children of all grades, as well as their elders, are taking a keen interest in the parade, and there is every indication that it will be one of the high points of interest in the festival, according to Bruce Gibson, general chairman of the show committee.

State To Open Bayshore Bids

Contract To Be Let Soon For Bridge Across Creek
For Highway

Bids will be opened within the next few days by the state board of public work for the construction of a bridge across Redwood creek near the foot of Main street to carry the Bayshore highway. This project will be one of several pieces of public work for which bids will be received this month. The remaining pieces of work will be:

Los Angeles—Closing right-of-way on five miles of Arroyo Seco highway, and overhead structure across the Santa Fe tracks on Coast highway at Manhattan beach.

Imperial — Grading and paving 13 miles on San Bernardino - El Centro highway.

Santa Barbara — Bridge across Santa Maria river, Coast highway.

Solano — Widening five concrete bridges west of Dixon.

Humboldt — New timber lift span across Eureka slough, Redwood highway.

The laying of the sub-grade for the Bayshore road is nearing completion, and the roadway will soon be in shape for use. It will not be provided with its complete wearing surface for several years, as allowance is made for settlement during this time. In the intervening time the surface will be given a macadam paving to carry the traffic.

CHEROKEES TO CLASH WITH BEAR CATS

By GEORGE AABEL
In the first league games of the season tonight, Sequoia lightweight basketball teams will meet the San Mateo Bearcats in the Sequoia gymnasium. Passing is the main factor of the Cherokee's offense, and if the passes are accurate, the Bearcats will have a hard time stopping the Sequoians.

In the first game Bud Swanson, and Charles Inouye, as forwards and Carl Shine and Jack Murphy as guards will start under Captain Jimmie McGuire for Sequoia. Starting the second game will be "Pinkie" Garcia and "Lefty" Dower, forwards; "Frenchy" Pommies, guard and Art Blasdel, center, who will be led by Ed Matheson, playing guard.

SEATTLE, (UP)—It was worth at least $3,000 to stop a skyrocket with his face, Watson Smith declared when he filed suit for that amount against J. N. Vring, whom he claimed fired the rocket that hit him in the face July 4.

Well Widow Goes To San Quentin

Mrs. Minnie Roderick, second and last of the convicted killers of Frank Roderick, went to San Quentin prison Wednesday. She was taken across the bay by Deputy Sheriff Tom Maloney and Mrs. Dolly Grainger, matron at the jail. The day previous Will Woodring, jointly convicted of the murder was taken to the prison. Both are to serve life terms for the murder.

J. J. Bullock, attorney for the convicted woman, has filed a notice of appeal of the judgment of the superior court and of the decision of Judge Buck not to grant a new trial.

Politically Speaking

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 16.—(UP)—A little more than three weeks now, and the 1930 elections will have passed into history. Sixty days later a new governor will be inaugurated and the 1931 legislature will be in full swing.

You may judge from the foregoing that there's plenty for the political observers at Sacramento to talk about these days. Such questions as, What's going to happen to the various measures on the ballot? Who will Governor Young appoint before he retires? and what will James Rolph Jr. do when he becomes governor? are keeping tongues wagging on all sides.

Most hotly contested among the ballot measures are daylight saving, taxation of toll bridges, usury law, fish and game amendment, constitutional convention and Sunday closing. Proponents and opponents are saving their ammunition for the last two weeks, so voters may expect a veritable barrage of propaganda from now until November 4, election day.

Mayor Rolph and his running-mate, Senator Frank F. Merriam, are campaigning arm-in-arm these days, and have a busy program of speaking engagements from now until election day. Mayor Rolph inspected the site of Hoover dam on the Colorado river by airplane, also viewing the route of the All-American canal.

Rolph's campaign will close with a big old-fashioned political torchlight parade, brass band, etc., in Los Angeles November 1, and a public demonstration Monday night, November 3, in San Francisco at the civic auditorium, with fireworks and band music about the civic center.

Plenty of candidates are being brought forth for the two railroad commissioner vacancies Governor Young must fill before he leaves office. Terms of two Richardson appointees, Ezra Decoto of Alameda county, and Thomas S. Loutitt of San Joaquin county expire at the end of the year.

Prominently mentioned is Bert B. Meek, present director of public works, who denies, however, that he is seeking the post. Next in line would be Irving Martin, Stockton publisher, a former member of the railroad commission, who managed Governor Young's campaign in northern California. Others suggested for the commissionerships are Senator M. B. Harris of Fresno, a member of the state highway commission, and Harold Landreth of Pasadena, private secretary to the governor.

Newspaper publishers of the state are beginning to guess as to who will be named state printer. Among the publishers mentioned for the job are Florence J. O'Brien, editor of the Chico Enterprise; Harry Hammond, Byron Times; W. A. Shepard, Auburn Herald; M. C. Maloney, Santa Ana Times, and Fred McPherson, Santa Cruz Sentinel.

Before "Governor" Rolph finishes his four years at Sacramento he will probably find himself and family enmeshed in a new executive mansion. Steps were taken by the 1929 legislature and the city of Sacramento to provide a more modern home, in a more desirable residential section for the governor, in place of the antiquated structure now located in the industrial section.

Retailers Plan Christmas Party Wedn'day, Dec. 3

New Officers Elected For New Year By Retail Organization

The Redwood City Retailers are planning a Christmas party and open house for Wednesday evening, December 3. This event last year proved a very successful affair, as was the recent fall opening arranged by the same organization, and it is planned this year to make the Christmas party even a more pretentious event.

A committee headed by Kendall B. Towne is making the plans for the event. The retailers met last Monday evening and elected new officers. Albert Davies was chosen president to succeed J. P. Hearne, who was the principal factor in the organization of the group and also its first president. Mark E. Ryan is the new vice-president; Walter W. Hilton, treasurer; George McQueen, secretary; Bob Murphy, Kendall Towne, Harry Gelbman, Clarence Choate, Frank Eyronid, I. D. Browne, M. R. Hinds, Max Beeder and James P. Hearne, board of directors.

Citizens Committee Considers Park Plan

The Citizens' Committee on Parks and Playgrounds held a meeting in the chamber of commerce office Wednesday night, with Chairman Paul A. McCarthy presiding. Fifteen members of the committee were present. Reports of various subcommittees were submitted and discussed, among which was the technical committee of which E. A. Rollison is chairman. The recommendation of this committee that the advice of an expert be secured as to the proper method of procedure to follow in planning park and playground development was approved.

Z. T. Thorning, chairman of the ways and means committee, reported that the consensus of opinion among the merchants of the city was that the proposed park projects should be included in the city tax budget and not attempted through a subscription campaign among the business men.

The committee at the meeting Wednesday night recommended that the local chamber of commerce join the National Recreational Association. The dues are $5 a year. Very valuable information and data is secured from the national organization without further cost.

Members of the citizens committee present at the meeting Wednesday night were Chairman Paul A. McCarthy, Secretary Howard I. Wood, Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn, Mrs. Woodie E. La Dieu, E. A. Rollison, city manager, Dr. W. H. Langston, Carl Stoner, Carroll D. Hall, Z. T. Thorning, A. C. Argo, C. L. Dornmitt, Merton Hughes, John Gill and A. S. Liguori.

District Meeting Of Kiwanis Held

Close to 200 Kiwanians from the thirteen clubs about the San Francisco bay district and representing Division 2, gathered at the Hotel Benj. Franklin in San Mateo Tuesday night for a division meeting and dinner. The Redwood City Club acted as the host club. At a noon day luncheon attended by six clubs of the division on the same day, the Burlingame-San Mateo club acted as host. Over 100 members were in attendance at the luncheon.

At the evening session the Kiwanis Forum or speaking contest took place, representatives from eight clubs speaking on the subject "Kiwanis in Participating Citizenship." Redwood City was represented by Carl Wagner, its district trustee. The judges had a difficult job in selecting the winner, but finally decided on Gene Beirly of the Oakland club. The latter will represent Division 2 at the district convention in Oakland next month.

Carl Wagner acted as toastmaster at the dinner, being introduced by President Sam Winklebuck, of the Redwood club, who gave the welcoming address. Otis M. Carrington, accompanied by Belton Rhodes, rendered several solos, that were greatly appreciated and well received by the Kiwanians. Special acclamation music was also provided during the dinner by the Penna Brothers of Redwood City. Lieutenant-Governor A. C. Jensen of San Leandro presided at the meeting following the dinner and during the Forum contest.

President Harry Peckham of the Burlingame-San Mateo club presided at the noon luncheon, which was featured by a talk on Russia by Frank Brackalou of Oakland. Plans for the district convention in Oakland November 13, 14 and 15 were discussed at the luncheon, and it was urged that all of the thirteen clubs in the division attend the annual big meet one hundred percent. Eight clubs have already pledged a hundred percent registration.

On account of the San Mateo gathering Tuesday, the Redwood Club had no regular program at its luncheon Wednesday, the meeting being of a informal nature. President Sam Winklebuck presided.

C. of C. Luncheon To Take Place In Museum of Horse

Members Given Opportunity
To See Collection of Relics
Of Early Days

The meeting of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce this month will be held in one of Redwood City's little-appreciated establishments, the California Museum of the Horse. This establishment on the highway in the southern end of town is credited with having an invaluable collection of articles connected with the early days of California and including every known type of horse-drawn vehicle.

The California Museum of the Horse, conducted by T. C. Wohlbruck, is an establishment, which if fully appreciated would be a wonderful asset to Redwood City, and a point to which many tourists would travel. That the museum is not fully appreciated, in fact that few people of Redwood City even know of its existence, is the belief of the chamber of commerce. For this reason the meeting place for the regular luncheon meeting this month will be held there in order that the members may see what an interesting establishment has been located in this city.

Citrus Fruit Ban Against Florida Off

Conference of Entomologists
Ends 18 Months Of Quarantine

ATLANTA, Oct. 15 (UP)—Eighteen months after the Mediterranean fruit fly quarantine was clamped down on Florida citrus products it was lifted today by agreement of entomologists of 18 Southern and Western States. The ban was lifted following assurance of the United States Department of Agriculture that danger of further infestation had disappeared.

The Federal Plant Board said that it would assume all responsibility in event of any infestation in future, according to Manning S. Yeomans, Georgia State Entomologist, who participated in a Washington Conference from which the agreement to raise the ban resulted.

First Restrictions
The first restrictions went into effect May 1, 1929, curtailing shipments of Florida citrus fruit in its natural state. While a stringent eradication campaign was waged by federal and state authorities, a modified order on November 20, 1929, permitted shipment of sterilized citrus fruits.

Today's agreement permits virtually blanket shipment. "The control and elimination of the Mediterranean fruit fly by first confining it to that section of Florida where it was first discovered," Yeomans said, "has been one of the greatest pieces of work ever undertaken and completed by the United States Department of Agriculture with state departments and state boards of entomology co-operating."

Gigantic Task
"No one believed in the beginning that such a gigantic task was possible; however, only three new infestations have been discovered in Florida since April 1, 1929, and there are still 700 Federal inspectors on the job." "The discovery of the fruit fly, considered by all entomologists to be the most dangerous and devastating pest extant, literally threw growers of fruits and vegetables into a near panic, for the existence of between $800,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 worth of products was jeopardized." "The United States Department of Agriculture assumed leadership immediately and has expended between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000 in the fight on the med-fly. Cost of this work is insignificant when we consider the value of the crops endangered."

Love's Sacrifice

By Mildred Barbour

"Dr. Randolph! . . . Oh, thank heaven!"

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS

Sally Todd and Lois Montgomery leave home to seek their fortunes in New York.

Sally's brother, Bert, who is in love with Lois, follows them.

Lois meets a young man whom she knew when she was a wealthy woman's secretary.

He and a chap named FRISBY show her and Sally little attention, but Lois' thoughts are chiefly on the problems of existence.

Lois finally gets a job with a firm of interior decorators. Sally struggles for a foothold in the movies. They have a hard time making both ends meet.

Sally enters hospital training, finally convinced that the films hold no future for her.

Lois is absorbed in her own work. During her employer's illness, she is sent to the palatial residence of James Walton to make a preliminary report.

Sally's liking for gay company causes a coolness between herself and Lois.

It also involves Lois in difficulties with Bert.

Lois is strongly attracted to Walton, who is much older than herself, and very rich and distinguished.

She finds him very cold and domineering.

He demands she give up her friendship with Sally.

Chapter 23.

Careless Feet.

When Lois rang up the hospital on the day that Sally was off duty, she was told by the switchboard operator that Miss Todd had already left. Lois gave her name and number, hoping that Sally would call her, but, though she stayed home all day, she heard nothing from her friend.

The early June day was so lovely that she spent it in a chaise longue on the terrace, listening drowsily to the birds, gazing at the flowers nodding in the sun, and at the blue waters of the Sound. Tea was brought to her there, and the shadows had lengthened and the cool of early evening had crept into the garden before she went into dress for dinner.

At that same hour, Sally, with a gay party, was just starting on a round of cocktails at a road-house near Long Beach. She was looking very pretty, and she was in high spirits. The grueling training was nearly over. True, she'd have to work just the same, but she could more or less choose this work and the time. She didn't have to take a case unless she needed the money. She didn't believe that she need worry about the future. She was confident that she would have plenty of cases to choose from—the doctors all seemed to like her. Unfortunately, she didn't realize that they liked her personally, because she was laughing and gay, but that, when it came to choosing a responsible nurse, they wouldn't think of her.

Anyway, she was happy that day, and she told herself, when an inner voice whispered a warning, that she was so near the end of several years of hard work that she ought to celebrate a little. She might not have such a good chance again.

Sally and her friends danced all evening. Several couples disappeared for strolls in the moonlight and one of the men went to sleep and refused to be roused. Sally, who was beginning to be terribly weary, discovered that the clock had raced. It was time she was back in town, if she were to get to the hospital promptly. She told her escort and received a careless: "Is that so?" in reply. Whereupon he disappeared.

Sally went in search of another member of the party who had a car, but he was nowhere to be found. She appealed to a third man, but he said that it was too early to think of going home. Finally she sought the proprietor of the road house, to ask about trains, and learned with growing panic, that there would be no service until morning.

She was terrified by this time. She had to get back—that was all there was to it!

She entreated the proprietor to let her have the use of an automobile, but the man refused flatly unless he was paid twenty-five dollars in advance. Sally had exactly fifty cents in her purse.

She wrung her hands in despair and wept piteously, but the proprietor was unmoved.

Finally she dried her eyes, powdered her nose hastily and disappeared into the night. She was going to start walking, on the chance of being picked up by some passing car. But car after car flashed by her, failing to see her, or ignoring her, frantic signals. She was crying with fear and disappointment when another pair of headlights picked her out of the darkness. She retreated to the side of the road, her face half-covered by her handkerchief, her very attitude signifying distress.

The car slowed down. "Are you in trouble?" called a pleasant voice. "Anything I can do to help you?"

The handkerchief fell from Sally's hand. She gave a gasp, a glad cry, and sped across the road.

"Dr. Randolph! . . . Oh, thank heaven!"

He stared at her in astonishment, even while he reached out and opened the door to her.

"Miss Todd! What on earth are you doing here at this time of night?"

She scrambled in beside him. "Oh, do hurry!" she begged breathlessly. "I've got to get back quick, quick! I've overstayed my leave already. When 'Bones' finds out—"

He sent the car forward in a burst of speed: "We'll do the best we can."

But she caught his arm. "Don't forget—if we get arrested, and it's found that I'm with you . . . regulations . . ."

His handsome mouth tightened. "Never mind. We'll risk it."

They tore on through the night. Sally relaxed in a corner of the commodious seat. She trusted Dale Randolph. He would get her out of this mess, somehow. She felt a thrill of pleasure in the strength and protection that seemed to radiate from him. She was grateful that he didn't reprimand her, or ask her where she had been and why she was so late.

Randolph was silent, his eyes on the road, his ear attuned for the sound of a pursuing motor-cycle. He was more aware than she of the danger of an arrest for speeding. The hospital rule against social relations between nurses and doctors was strict. He decided that he would say, if an explanation were required, that Sally's escort's car had broken down and that he had picked her up to prevent her overstaying her leave. So far as he knew, that might be the truth. At least, he would have to give that as an explanation, if they were seen.

Rolph and Nov. Election

By D. E. O'KEEFE

While the November election will simply ratify the election of James Rolph, Jr., chosen at the primary, as governor of the state, it is to be hoped a large vote will be brought out to show the popularity of the mayor and also demonstrate the civic pride of the people in doing their duty in voting. The entire republican ticket is practically elected, as the democratic party will only put forth a feeble effort to stem the tide of the on-rushing republican majority that will be giving the ticket on November 4th.

James Rolph has made a colorful mayor and will make a colorful governor, bringing fame and glory to his native state. As governor, Rolph will be known to every one in country, just like Jimmie Walker, that colorful mayor of New York, who has brought more attention to his city than any other mayor has done in fifty years. James Rolph is a student of government, is resourceful and as an entertainer is unequalled. Visitors to Sacramento will go away feeling they have been accorded that genial hospitality for which California is known throughout the country, and will spread the spirit of good fellowship given them by the governor. All predict a wonderful and colorful administration for the new governor. His majority ought to reach the million mark. This is the high aim set by his admirers and it looks as if this will be accomplished. San Mateo county will do its part in gaining the goal. Voters are urged to come to the polls on November 4th to the end that that big mark may be reached.

MENLO PARK

E. J. Crane, member of the Menlo Park City Council and Police Commissioner of the town, is making a special appeal to the motoring public to adhere closely to the state driving rule regulating speed in school zones.

Menlo's school is on the state highway passing through the town and of late motorists have been quite careless in driving through the zone. Crane urges that from a humanitarian standpoint greater care be taken in the future.

The Police Commissioner points out that the new city administration in Menlo Park wants the motoring public to know that no attempt is being made to prey upon them and that a lenient interpretation of the state traffic laws is the rule, save in the matter of excessive speed in the school zones during class hours.

The city council held a short session Wednesday night. Councilmen Anderson and Blake were absent, and the city clerk, Mrs. Kurtz, was detained at home owing to illness. Dale was made secretary pro tem.

The zoning ordinance had its second reading and will come up for final passage at the next regular meeting of the council.

Ordinance No. 30-1 was passed and adopted giving the council full power to open Live Oak street to University Drive by the condemnation of property and forming an assessment district. The short street will be fifty feet wide and will be properly improved.

Mayor Weeden drew the attention of the council to an article appearing in a local paper sponsored by Thomas Furman regarding the cost of street paving in Stanford Park. Mr. Weeden said it was incumbent on him to refute the figures presented by Furman. The latter claimed that the price of $64,300 was much lower than the estimate presented by the engineer for similar work proposed in the district, to-wit, $65,000. Weeden explained that only four streets, College, Cambridge, Harvard and University Drive, 8900 lineal feet, were to be paved by the former plan, while under the new proposal ten streets, Stanford avenue, Arbor road, Princeton road, Yale road and Oxford avenue, in addition to the other four were to be paved, approximately 17,850 lineal feet. For this extra work only an addition sum of $500 was charged. Regarding the fees of the engineer, Weeden said that the bill of George A. Kneese for the former work was $2700 but he had pursued Mr. Kneese to reduce the claim to a cost basis of $1875. Weeden said the statement of Furman was misleading and should be corrected.

Miss Sarah Fry called the attention of the council to the menacing hedge at the corner of MacBain avenue and the state highway, saying that it was dangerous to pedestrians and urged that the council urge the city of Atherton fathers to trim the nuisance. She also urged that MacBain avenue be made an arterial as hundreds of machines coming out of Menlo Junior College used the avenue to the utter danger of pedestrians in that locality. Mayor Weeden agreed to take the matter up with the city of Atherton in which district the troublesome hedge, on the Leon Douglass property, is located.

Ira S. Lillac, chairman of the Menlo Park Sanitary Board, left during the week to make his abode in the city during the winter months.

Miss McKinnon has closed her home and has departed for San Francisco for three months. The McKinnon home on Glenwood avenue is one of the show places of that locality.

Through his attorney, J. T. O'Keefe, Louis Caspari, up until a few days ago the owner of the candy emporium in front of the grammar school, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from his wife, Helen, by the superior court of this county. The couple was married only 23 days, but during that period Louis lost 23 hairs of his head. In his complaint he alleged that his wife plucked a hair each day from his head. It was not the pain of removing the rib from the skin that bothered him, it was the worry over the loss of his black locks. He figured that the process of elimination if continued ad infinitum he would lose them and so sought relief from the court to eradicate the cause. The judge believed he had sufficient grounds and granted him the decree and the relief desired.

John O'Hearn, a former pioneer of Menlo Park, passed away in San Francisco Wednesday at the ripe old age of 87 years. The remains will be brought to Holy Cross cemetery here today for interment. The deceased first came here in the early seventies and for a number of years was the gardener for J. A. Donohoe. Later he engaged in the grocery business in Menlo Park. The Carleton home was built by him and used as a grocery. It was the first business house erected east of the railroad tract. Up until his death he owned the property adjoining the Carleton dwelling. Mr. O'Hearn left Menlo Park about 25 years ago. He is survived by a daughter and son, living in San Francisco.

Father Walsh, who was killed in an airplane flight in Alaska this week was widely known in Menlo Park, having been ordained at St. Patrick's Seminary five years ago after spending eleven years in the institution. Two years ago he went north as a Jesuit missionary and became a martyr to the cause of religion in his effort to bring Christianity to the natives of the land of the midnight sun.

A mighty city is to be established in that territory north of the Bay road and just where the Ringwood road converges with the former. Here is to arise sphinx-like the City of Belle Haven that will take in all the territory thereabouts. Under those mighty oaks will be built fine homes, busy streets will be lined with stores and business houses of all kinds. The D. D. Bohannon organization has taken over The New Bridge tract and a portion of the Belle Haven property and a city is to be built at this point. Large industries are to be established on the Belle Haven lands. Here thousands of men are to be employed that will settle in Belle Haven city, there to erect happy homes and enjoy constant employment under the sunny skies of the peninsula. The embryo city has future factories and industrial activities in that favored region will cause to grow.

After a long and lingering illness Edward Weeden, a pioneer of Menlo Park, passed from this vale of tears last Saturday afternoon surrounded by members of his family. The funeral on Monday morning from the Church of the Nativity was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The mortal remains were laid away in the family plot along side those of his father and mother in Holy Cross Cemetery. Mr. Weeden was an expert carpenter and for many years was a member of the contracting firm of Weeden Bros. which firm has erected nearly all the large buildings in this community during the past quarter of a century. When the late J. C. Flood amassed a fortune in the Comstock he came to Menlo Park to erect a palatial home. Early in 1878 work on the dwelling was begun. Flood was a humanitarian and wanted workmen to share in his prosperity and so permitted the work to be done by day labor. He hired the most expert mechanics available. Charles Weeden was an expert carpenter and was employed on the building. Weeden brought his family from San Francisco. Among them was the deceased then a lad of about seven years who attended the local schools and at an early age learned the carpenter trade from his father. The son became as expert as was the father and was accounted the finest mechanic in the county. The other brothers Charles, and Harry Weeden, the mayor, were also splendid mechanics. They formed a co-partnership that lasted until the passing of the deceased. It was a fine combination that did a big business in this locality. The elder Weeden passed away some years ago. Edward Weeden was sixty years old when the final summons came. His life was uneventful but it was a pure clean one. He commanded the respect of all by his honesty and pure living. His passing was as calm as was his peaceful life. He was ready to go and when the Death Angel called he humbly bowed in submission, closing his tired eyes and freeing his soul for its flight to the realms beyond.

His widow, sister and two brothers have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Mrs. Larrecou, mother of B. Larrecou, postmaster, is very ill in the French Hospital, San Francisco, where she has undergone a serious operation. Her relatives are much alarmed and are hoping for the best. Mrs. Larrecou is a pioneer of Menlo Park and beloved by all. It is the prayer of all her friends that she may recover.

Mark Loughlin is back at his post as assistant station agent at the Southern Pacific depot. He has been absent for six months. His many friends are pleased to see him back on the job. Thomas Mead, who filled the place in the absence of Mr. Loughlin, has gone south.

Miss Carmelita Duff, formerly of Menlo Park, has been appointed to a position at the State Library at Sacramento. Miss Duff is an expert librarian and has been employed in a number of the counties of the state. She is a graduate of Stanford. She has had a wide experience in her chosen work.

The whist party in the grammar school auditorium this evening under the auspices of the Mother's club is to allure a large number of fans for the prizes are to be valuable and many. The prettiest girls in town have been selected to do the "punching."

SEQUOIA TO MEET SAN JOSE VARSITY

By GENE HARTNEY

Sequoia Union High School's varsity football team will travel to San Jose this afternoon, where they will clash with the San Jose varsity in their second league tilt of the season. The San Jose team holds a victory over Lido high school and last week lost 14 to 13 to Selma high school of Fresno in a night tilt under arc lights. The Garden City lads may considered a "dark horse" of the league.

Captain "Chuck" DeLacey will probably start against San Jose and should bear the brunt of the Cherokee offensive attack. Other probable starters in the backfield for the Indians are Ed Cullen, who specializes in off-tackle plays and passing, El Cleland, safety man and field general, and Leroy Kennedy, who will fill Roy McQuilkin's shoes at the other halfback position.

The Sequoia line boasts of some good material in Goldthwaite, Stubbs, LeRoy, Lawler, Rhoda and Eaton, all having made fine showings in practice games and looked good against the hefty Burlingame squad in the Cherokees first league game last Friday.

The Cherokee aerial attack should prove an asset to long gains for the locals. The Indians' forward passing was not very good against Burlingame, but in other games it functioned in a yard-gaining manner.

It is expected that the Garden City team will offer the Cherokees stiff competition and the locals will have to be in top form to stop the running of the Bernardo brothers and Captain Mitchell in the San Jose backfield.

Coaches Ray Dimick and Leonard Casanova will probably start the following tentative line-up: LeRoy and Bugge, ends; Lawler and Goldthwaite, tackles; Rhoda and Stubbs, guards; and Eaton or Rhoda, center; Cullen, quarterback; Cleland and Kennedy, halves; and Captain DeLacey, fullback.

WOODSIDE

Herman Wobber, entertained at luncheon at his place here on Sunday members of the San Francisco Down-Town Association and their guests, the Down-Town Association of Los Angeles. There were three hundred guests and an even hundred cooks, waiters and dishwashers to cater to the wants of the guests. It had been planned to have luncheon in the garden of the Wobber place but the unexpected rain made it necessary to utilize the dancing pavilion for that purpose.

James V. Neuman and family spent the week-end at their ranch on the other side of the ridge, and the rain of Sunday, which was heavier there, made it almost impossible for them to return to Woodside.

Eighty-five hundredths of an inch of rain was recorded on our rain gauges at Woodside as the result of Sunday's shower.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Jackling left for New York last week and expect to start from there on a cruise of South American ports in their yacht the "Cyprus." Mr. Jackling will be honored in New York at a dinner to be given on October 31, where he will be presented with the William Lawrence Saunders gold medal for 1930. This medal is awarded annually for achievement in mining by the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

His many friends in Woodside were saddened to hear of the death on Tuesday of Eastland Britton. His management of the Bear Gulch Water Company has brought him in contact with most of our citizens and his helpfulness and courtesy had made him beloved by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Nelson and family have moved from their home in Woodside Glens and are occupying the cottage of Mrs. Goularte, formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Otis Dudley.

The Woodside Firemen will give one of their enjoyable dances at the Woodside hall on Saturday night, the 18th.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its monthly social meeting on Wednesday afternoon. The time was occupied chiefly in rehearsal for the dramatics production to be offered the public on the evening of October 31.

San Bruno Man Killed by Train

As he was walking along the track at Salinas, Alex McKillop, San Bruno carpenter, was instantly killed when struck by a train. McKillop is said to have left San Bruno last week and gone to Salinas in search of work. He has lived alone at San Bruno for several years. No relatives of the dead man are known.

Sequoia Seniors Plan Annual Autumn Dance

Art Metal Class For Night School Planned

Plans are being made at the Sequoia Evening school to organize a new class in metal and art jewelry work to meet every Monday and Wednesday evening.

H. J. Steinbrunn, who has been an instructor at the California School of Arts and Crafts at Oakland, California, will be in charge. Rings, bracelets, pendants, and brooches will be made from material bought by the students.

Junior Colleges Face Difficult Financial Future

Either Legislature or Land Owners Must Accept Added Burden

By ELWOOD SQUIRES

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 17 (UP)—

Junior colleges of California must seriously curtail their efforts unless the 1931 legislature takes steps to provide immediate financial assistance for present and future needs of the system.

If the legislature refuses such aid, property owners in each existing and contemplated junior college district must be prepared to assume the major portion of the upkeep.

Walter E. Morgan, head of the division of research and statistics in the state department of education, made these statements after completing preliminary work, preparatory to placing the whole situation before the legislature.

"At present the state has a junior college fund which is supposed to supply $100 per pupil a year," Morgan explained.

"Actually the fund was able to give but $30 a pupil last year, and this year it will be even less. It is derived from the state's share of oil bonuses, royalties and leases, as returned by the federal government. Conservation policies recently inaugurated have cut down this money until it is no longer adequate.

"We will ask the legislature to pass a law, guaranteeing that junior colleges get $100 per pupil, even though it becomes necessary to draw the money from the general funds of the state.

"Failing this, the state department of education is admittedly at a loss as to the future of junior colleges."

There are now 16,918 pupils enrolled in 16 junior college districts, Morgan said, with more than 2,000 additional to be added when the new Los Angeles college qualifies for state funds in 1932.

"Total expenses, excluding capital outlay, for junior colleges during the past fiscal year totaled $2,250,000," Morgan said.

"The state paid $753,000 of this amount. Expenses will grow steadily however, and state funds for this purpose will decrease unless action is taken by the legislature.

"Property owners are now so heavily burdened that they cannot be asked to assume the costs of the junior college system, and it is apparent that unless the state finds a way to finance them, junior colleges must curtail their efforts, with new colleges out of the question."

LIQUOR CACHED IN PIPES

ATLANTA, UP)—I. P. Jones, youngest member of the Atlanta police force, distinguished himself recently by discovering that bootleggers were using drain pipes in the heart of down-town Atlanta to hide pint-sized consignments of corn liquor.
